Welcome to the Office for the Arts at Harvard.

Your talents, interests and curiosity in theater, dance, music, visual arts and other creative projects will find a home and an incubator at the OFA.

Our mission is to support your arts experience during your time at Harvard. Find out how we can help you engage with visiting artists, provide funding, take classes, produce performances and much more. Make art. All arts. All levels. All for you.

Find out more!
ofa.fas.harvard.edu

Office for the Arts at Harvard
Jack Megan, Director
74 Mt. Auburn Street
Cambridge, MA 02138

make art.

Contact program leads listed here to learn more about virtual and in-person events during the academic year.

artists

OFA Presents, the premier visiting artists program at Harvard, offers engaging and dynamic encounters with visiting artists and includes popular series such as Learning from Performers, ArtsBites, Off Camera, Jazz Conversations and more. Through these many initiatives, the program hosts artists in every genre. Students can participate, co-produce and propose workshops, discussions and more.

Contact: Alicia Anstead
anstead@fas.harvard.edu • 617.495.1924

music

Do you play an instrument or sing? Harvard’s Music Department and OFA offer a broad range of ensembles led by professional conductors who provide opportunities for students in many repertoires and genres. Participate in groups such as the Harvard-Radcliffe Orchestra, Harvard Pops Orchestra, Harvard Jazz Bands, Jazz Combo Initiative, Kuumba Singers of Harvard, Harvard University Choruses and more.

Contact: Stephanie Troisi
troisi@fas.harvard.edu • 617.495.8895

dance

At the Harvard Dance Center, students can enroll in TDM curricular and OFA co-curricular courses, participate in master classes and workshops, work alongside visiting artists, and perform repertory, commissioned work and installations. The Dance Center has opportunities for all abilities and all levels of experience. We provide mentorship, support, residencies and a civic discussion series in partnership with departments across campus.

Contact: Elizabeth Epsen
dance@fas.harvard.edu • 617.495.8683

ceramics

The Ceramics Program offers instruction at all levels. The core strengths of our internationally recognized studio/study center in Allston are its excellent courses, innovative interdisciplinary symposia and studio access for independent study. Accomplished instructors, independent professionals, and resident visiting artists inspire and engage students in developing skills for making functional and sculptural ceramics.

Contact: Kathy King
 ceramics@fas.harvard.edu • 617.495.8680

grants

The OFA annually funds nearly 100 projects in all arts fields and offers music lesson subsidies. Our Artist Development Fellowships support undergraduates engaged in summer proposals for transformational growth. The Faculty Council on the Arts awards annual Arts Prizes recognizing outstanding student accomplishments in a range of arts.

Contact: Stephanie Troisi
 troisi@fas.harvard.edu • 617.495.8895

festival

ARTS FIRST, Harvard’s annual multi-day arts celebration, features hundreds of exciting events in a multitude of genres and showcases the talent of more than 2,000 students. Get involved! Find out about performing, volunteering and paid undergraduate producer positions.

Contact: Marin Orlosky
 arts@fas.harvard.edu • 617.495.8699

theater

Whatever your interest in the dramatic arts, our theater professionals are dedicated to helping you produce shows through mentorships, master classes, workshops, venue guidance, residencies, subsidies, grants and more.

Contact: Dana Knox
danaknox@fas.harvard.edu • 617.495.8727

and more

The OFA offers many arts opportunities for undergraduates such as studio art, free Boston Symphony Orchestra tickets, venue management training, WinterSession workshops and more. Got an idea? Stop by!

Contact: Gabby Lee
 ofa@fas.harvard.edu • 617.495.8676